

THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY MAY 20
The largest fee ever offered a physician—$35,000—was lately offered Mr. Anderson Critchett, the celebrated London surgeon, to go to India to treat one of the native princes. The fee was not quite large enough to tempt the doctor to go to India.

The Rev. H. Stone Richardson, one of the most eloquent and popular preachers in the Methodist church in this state, who was temporarily to abandon the pulpit last fall, temporarily, on account of threatened nervous prostration, has accepted the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A. at Oshkosh.

A dispatch from Oshkosh says that the Catholics of that city, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Green Bay and other towns in Northern Wisconsin have united to raise a fund to purchase a jubilee gift for the pope. It will be an album two feet square, mounted in solid gold, and will contain views of property owned by the church in the places named, and photographs of some of the clergy. A delegation will be selected to go to Rome and present the memorial.

The mortal part of man is thus advertised in a medical journal published in this country: "Skeletons have ruled firm and active throughout the year, with prices unchanged. We have been able to supply the demand for the common varieties promptly, but the finer grades were scarce, and orders for deformities could not always be filled at once. In this regard the market is still unchanged, although our broker in Paris has orders to buy everything offered at the usual rates."

Samuel Pasco has been nominated by the democrats of Florida, for the United States senate. He was born in London, England, and spent his youth in Massachusetts, being educated at Harvard. He went to Florida in 1859 and taught school. He enlisted in 1861, and rose from the ranks to a captain. After the war he practiced law. He was a presidential elector in 1880, and in 1884 was a prominent candidate for governor, but withdrew in favor of Perry. He has served in the Florida legislature.

The New York Times still betrays its disappointment over the reckless way in which the president administers civil service reform. There was a time when all the muckrakers were in high glee over the splendid record of the president. The Evening Post, especially, was proud and arrogant in its attempt to support the demagogism of the administration, and pretty soon it may feel like making a confession that one Edwyn once made:

"For once, when I was up so high in pride, That I was half way down the slope to Hell."

A reception will be given John Sherman at Springfield, Ill., on the first of June. It will be held in the capitol park, and Governor Oglesby will preside. Thousands of people will attend this reception, and will come from all parts of the state. The speech which Mr. Sherman will make on that memorable occasion, will doubtless be the keynote to the campaign of '88. Mr. Sherman is one of the foremost statesmen of this generation, and what he will have to say at Springfield regarding the republican party and republican principles, will be worth repeating in every part of the country.

It having been charged that Henry George wanted to make some sort of a deal with Mr. Blaine for 1888, he says in his paper: "You can say that there has been no deal or agreement either past, pending or to be made in future between James G. Blaine and myself. I am opposed to Mr. Blaine. He represents all that I have been fighting against for years—monopoly and the worst form of capitalist's power. I could not be consistent and have any dealings with Mr. Blaine." It was not necessary for Mr. George to make a denial. No sensible man would be foolish enough to believe for a moment that Mr. Blaine, or any one for him, would stoop so low as to make any deal with Henry George.

The glass workers represented in an assembly of the Knights of Labor in New York, have voted down a plan to start a co-operative glass works. The reason is not given, but the majority against the scheme—1,233 to 271—is sufficiently emphatic to show that it was not popular. Yet these men have a large reserve fund, could easily spare the capital required, and it might be thought well welcome the opportunity to test the co-operative principle practically. If the general feeling among workmen at large were anything like what it evidently is among the glass workers, co-operation would have but a poor prospect in this generation. There is another chance thrown away by the labor party to test the practicability of co-operation. If they are honest in condemning capital, why vote down a co-operative plan by which they could make glass to suit themselves?

There is a kick among the regular preachers against the paying of large sums for the occasional services of Sam Jones. We should think a regular preacher might learn to do the same work that Jones does. All that he has to do is to learn to obey God and spit and to lounge around a bar-room long enough to pick up a supply of slang.

It is quite time that the ministers generally should vigorously protest against some of the methods of Mr. Jones. Slang was never known to religiously taught any human being. It does not convince. It cannot reform character. Intelligent men and women who have known Sam Jones, are shocked by what is known as pulpit slang, and a bar-room-like air, when discussing the most sacred theme that can engage the attention of man. That is why St. Louis is getting stirred up

POWDERY AND STRIKES.

With 30,000 men on a lock-out in Chicago and 7,000 in the same condition at Haverhill, Mass., it does not look as though Chief Powdery's anti-strike theories were making very rapid progress—Chicago Journal.

This is one of the weaknesses of the order of the Knights of Labor. Mr. Powdery has repeatedly given his orders against striking, but strikes still continue. His orders against the Missouri Pacific strike last year were not obeyed, and when he ordered the men to resume work, Martin Irons refused to carry out the order in his assembly district.

So it will strike one as being very anomalous that Mr. Powdery should issue his orders, or in other words, publicly express the sentiment of his order, and allow the men to do as they please. The general master workmen has some good ideas about strikes, and he preaches well, but when it comes to the practice, his men are not with him. While he is talking sensibly on the subject of strikes, some of the members of his order are on a lock-out, and are doing all in their power to bring agitation and discontent into the labor question. One of the first duties of a member of such an order is to keep sober, and the second is to promptly obey all orders coming from the authorities. The knights, as a rule, are good men, but they will strike contrary to the letter and spirit of their order.

THE PROFITS ON INDIAN TEA.

Tea has been very low in price of late years, but the profits made by the Indian tea company have been exceedingly large. The London Financial News says that one company in particular has paid an average of 16 per cent for the past ten years. The News looks for more speculative interest to be taken in this direction. Tea companies have been slow to seek markets for their stocks, for several reasons. In one or two cases, where outside money was invested, the results were such as to rather discourage investors. Operations in tea stocks on the exchange have been restricted by the wide margins necessary. The high returns yielded upon capital invested, even in the present low range of prices, is a leading reason for the interest awakened. The growth of the industry has been very great. In ten years the English imports rose from 29,500,000 pounds to 70,500,000 pounds. The consumption ten years ago was 20,700,000 pounds. In 1885 it was 28,500,000 pounds. The home consumption of India tea is something like 50 per cent of the production. Prices have fallen, owing chiefly to improved machinery, the consolidating of estates and more scientific modes of cultivation and preparation. Indian tea, it is stated, can compete with China tea notwithstanding the low price of the latter.

An acre of ground will yield on a fair estimate, from 300 to 400 pounds, although in some parts of India the product runs from 400 to 700 pounds. It costs twenty cents a pound to raise Indian tea, while the price realized at wholesale varies from 40 to 60 cents. The tea interest in India is greater than the tobacco interest in the west, and is more profitable. It is a certain crop and the increased demand for the product makes the industry one of special importance to India. A few years ago India was thought not to amount to much, but the wheat and the tea products of that country seem likely to make it one of the richest in the east.

Mr. Orr Sustained.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 20.—The committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the Birmingham Soldiers' Orphan's home made a report to the house Thursday, disproving the action of the trustees of that institution in sending Mrs. Orr to the home, and recommending, and a resolution was adopted favoring Mrs. Orr's reinstatement. A motion to reconsider was entered. A bill was passed prohibiting lines of notice to any person guilty of false statements in regard to the bill abolishing the land of five stock commissioners were sent to third reading, and the alien land bill was sent to the judiciary committee. The revenue bill was then considered and an amendment was adopted. The committee on accepting railway passes. The senate sent the Chicago drainage bill to second reading, and the bill for effective inspection of railway bridges to third reading. The general appropriation bill was disposed of in the same manner.

Suite of Gen. Saffridge.
PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—Dr. George J. Saffridge shot and killed himself Thursday within a few days of his retirement. He was dependent on account of his sufferings from an incurable disease of the kidneys. Gen. Saffridge's services in the federal army during the war were exceptionally brilliant. He was 62 years of age. Since the war he held various important offices, but of late has lived in retirement.

Death of an Eminent Michigan Man.
KALAMAZOO, Mich., May 20.—Charles E. Stuart died Thursday evening, aged 77 years. He served with distinction two terms in the national house of representatives and one term as United States senator. From 1850 to 1860 he was one of the most brilliant leaders in the Democratic party, ranking next to Stephen A. Douglas as its most trusted leader.

Suit of the "Nickel-Plate" Road.
CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 20.—The Nickel-Plate road was sold at 4 p. m. Thursday for $100,000, at which price it was bought. The purchasers were the purchasing committee of the new Nickel-Plate organization, composed of Messrs. Roosevelt, Kennedy, Olcott and W. K. Vanderbilt. Receiver Caldwell sold the road. There will be one bill.

DREAD IN THE PENINSULA.

SWEETING FOREST FIRES AWAKEN FEARS OF ANOTHER PESHTIGO.

Thousands of People Fighting the Flames Again in Michigan—The Italians at Camp No. 4 Escape with Their Lives—Frightful Effects of a Boiler Explosion in Kentucky—Mystery Solving.

MICHIGAN, Mich., May 20.—Lowering clouds of smoke and heavy fires a short distance west of here remind people almost too plainly of the terrible fires of 1871, when Michiganmen, then a town of 1,500 people, were wiped from the face of the earth in less than twenty-four hours, with a great loss of life. Several railroad camps were burned Thursday night, and Thursday Pater Lacroix, lumberman, had his camp burned. Other contractors lost railroad ties, posts, logs, etc. The Michiganmen from company are quite heavy losses.

NOAUMEN, Mich., May 20.—Fully 5,000 people were fighting fires on the peninsula Thursday, and a repetition of the awful Peshtigo fire is feared. The Italians at Camp No. 4, who were surrounded by fire Wednesday night, succeeded in saving their lives but lost the camp. Particulars of their heroic fight can not be learned yet. Several camps on the extension were destroyed. At noon Thursday fires were approaching Webster mine, and six saw-mills at various places are in imminent danger. At Neegaunee, Ishpeming, and Michigamoo the smoke is suffocating, and thousands of dollars' worth of hardwood and pine lumber destroyed. No fatalities are reported, though when definite news arrives from Camp No. 4 it is feared the report will be worse. Marquette, Alger, Baraga, Houghton and Keweenaw counties are being swept by fire. The fires are within two miles of Ishpeming, but no danger is anticipated at that place.

The forest fire raged rapidly with unusual fury in this vicinity. A fierce fire just north of the town Wednesday night filled the air with blinding smoke, ashes, and burning embers, and it was feared they might set fire to the city, but the wind veered slightly and the danger was temporarily averted. Whitney is completely surrounded by fire, and the people are fighting for their lives. Fires are still raging everywhere, and the smoke is dense. No casualties are reported, but thousands of dollars of damage has been done. From all quarters come reports of heavy damage. Owing to the telegraph poles being burned, full reports are not possible.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 20.—Reports from twenty-eight localities show the fires, on the whole, diminishing, though still very bad in places. Along the line of the Southern Shore road, they were under control with one or two exceptions. Advice sent received from Gillette's mill, on Silver creek six miles south of this city, state that the mill is surrounded by fire, which is burning everything to the water's edge. On both sides of the stream for miles. It is believed that the great wind-storm two weeks ago and the forest fires since have damaged the upper peninsula fully $5,000,000, and the loss is not yet.

LIMBS, HEAD AND HEART

Of Victims of a Boiler Explosion Scattered About—Six Probable Fatalities.

POTOMAC, Ky., May 20.—Wednesday morning the boiler of James Walker's mill exploded with terrible fatal results. The scene at the mill is one of a most horrible character. Limbs, a head, a heart and the body of an unfortunate man were scattered over the yard. John Rasse was blown away from a brick house and killed. Fred George was scalded and died in an hour; Henry McCleary, the colored engineer, who caused the accident by pumping cold water into the boiler, was blown to pieces, his remains being terribly mangled. John Coleman was hurled about the face and shoulders and received internal injuries from which he will die; James A. Lucas, laid out on head, jaw broken, and injured internally; will probably die; Ruben Solving (colored), lacerated and scalded, probably died; Fred Ferkensberg, cut in hand, scalded; can not live; Jim Hennington and W. P. Lacom, bruised and burned; may recover. The only person working at the mill who escaped uninjured was Mr. Wade, the proprietor, who had just stepped outside the building a moment previous to the explosion.

AND NOW IT'S THE BUTTERMILK.

Sixteen People Mysteriously Poisoned at Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 20.—A wholesale poisoning case, which is yet surrounded by mystery, has developed here. Wednesday night the families of Edward O'Day, George Dalby, J. B. Russell, John Baker, and David Davis, all mechanics, living on the west side, were called with a peculiar and violent sickness, vomiting and retching, until almost exhausted. It required all the skill of the attendant physicians to save them from death. Several are yet in a critical condition from exhaustion.

It has been found that all of the afflicted families partook of buttermilk Wednesday night for supper, which was sold by a country dairyman named Layton. A small quantity of the milk has been given to the board of health for analysis. The physicians say the symptoms indicated poisoning by something like "rough on rats." The persons who partook of the milk and are sick number sixteen.

An Actress Instantly Killed.
DRAVER, Cal., May 20.—A Rio Grande railroad train was thrown from the track at Saluda Thursday morning. Kate Custleton's company were aboard. The leading lady, Grace Leslie, was instantly killed. Dr. George Cox was badly hurt on the head. Conductor Aubrey, of the sleeper, was severely injured. The company was in the sleeper. A small quantity of the milk has been given to the board of health for analysis. The physicians say the symptoms indicated poisoning by something like "rough on rats." The persons who partook of the milk and are sick number sixteen.

UNION PACIFIC OPERATIONS.

May Gould Still Interests the Commission, but Don't Enlighten Them.

New York, May 20.—Mr. Gould resumed the witness stand Thursday morning when the commission investigating the Union Pacific railroad affairs began business. Witnesses, after asserting that the provisions of the consolidated mortgage trust were strictly complied with, went on to give an account of the total indebtedness of the Union Pacific as follows: On Dec. 14, 1879, the total indebtedness was $88,772,250, consisting of various issues of bonds. The outstanding issue of stock at that time was $36,702,800. The indebtedness of the Kansas Pacific at that time was $33,162,518.90; the stock was $9,500,250, and the stock of Denver $4,000,000.

"My holdings in Union Pacific," said the witness, "were $4,700,000 stock and $1,000,000 bonds. I did not hold a controlling interest at that time. I had $4,000,000 Kansas Pacific stock and about $6,000,000 in bonds. I owned the stock of the Union Pacific at that time. When all of the underlying bonds have been converted, the trust will have issued all of the consolidated bonds. The Union Pacific became the owner of the $11,000,000 Denver Pacific stock by the consolidation, and issued $1,000,000 of its own stock in place of it. They used $4,464,103.48 of this stock to pay me of the issue of this stock. At the time of consolidation I was owner of the Kansas Pacific controlling interest and was in a position to dictate the terms of this consolidation. My holdings in Kansas Pacific at that time amounted to $9,951,138. I didn't lose any money by the consolidation, nor did I make any, for the securities were worth just as much before as after the consolidation. The indebtedness of the consolidated road was $101,212,952.90 and the stock $30,722,800."

"The object of the directory in changing the name of the Union Pacific railroad company to the Union Pacific railroad company was to make it a new child, and to avoid mixing up accounts. My friends and I did not own a controlling interest in the stock of the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific railroads during the time between 1878 and 1880. Nor did we control the market by any concerted arrangement. The prices were made by the public who dealt in the stock. My holdings remained about the same all the time."

Mr. Little branched off from the subject to ask Mr. Gould what he thought of the interstate commerce bill. Mr. Gould said: "There is a great deal of good and some bad in it. I have not asked the commission for any change yet. I should prefer to wait a year or two before giving any definite opinion."

Mr. Anderson said that he could not inquire intelligently with reference to the commission of these securities without the accounts kept by Mr. Caley. Mr. Gould gave Sergeant-at-Arms Walsh a note directing Mr. Caley to produce his accounts.

Mr. Caley, clerk for the trustees of the consolidated mortgage, was called, and took a seat beside Mr. Gould. He explained figures in the Kansas Pacific books, but could not remember who sold to him bonds at various rates instead of mortgage bonds. Mr. Gould was asked a few more questions, but his memory was very defective, and he referred the commission to Mr. Caley in most cases. The commission soon after adjourned.

FINX GIVES HIS VIEWS.

He is Unanimously for Suspension of That Heel Clause—Critic May 20.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—Several hours were passed by the interstate commerce bill Thursday in listening to Mr. Albert Finx, the commissioner of the northern trunk lines. Mr. Finx represented no road or route, but being in town was invited by the committee to express his views on the long-and-short-haul section. He favored the suspension in the cases of all the roads that have applied to the commission to have this section suspended.

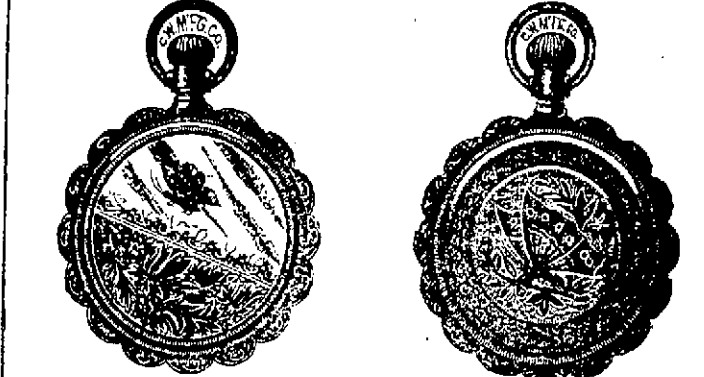

In reply to Gen. John C. Black, who asked the commission that a ruling be made that should force certain railroads who had refused to give a half-rate fare to members of the National home for disabled volunteer soldiers and sailors, the commission said that it is without their jurisdiction to do so. The controversial character of the petition and statements of Gen. Black are admitted, but the commission state that under the law they are powerless. The latter concludes with a request that it is unable to do more for the petitioner and what he requests, but states that it is unable to prematurely impose any construction of the law.

The commission received the sworn statement of a committee representing the western and southwestern water lines at Cincinnati, complaining that the railroads of the southwest make a different classification of freight to the water terminals. They contradicted the statement made by the rail lines that the water lines make rates for them, and urge the commission to rescind the order suspending section 4 of the new law and let the people the railroads conform to the will of the commission as expressed in the interstate commerce bill.

DOLLARS AND SENSE!

Are two very good things to have and those who make good use of the latter generally manage to get their share of the former. The sense of saving the cents is pretty generally understood by all, but where and how to save them may not be quite so well and widely known. The morgue of economy and the graveyard of extravagance is found in all those stores who ask a few cents more than we do for the purchases of all the day.

A SECRET OF MONEY MAKING.

Lies in the solution of the problem of judicious buying; this is accomplished by securing a reliable article at the very lowest price; but where? There is but one "lowest" and once found you may depend upon it that you are on the broad road to riches. Seek until you find it, and in the search don't forget to look us over, for we are making it a point to save at least one cent for every purchaser, no matter how small or trifling the article may be.

AS YOU BUY SO YOU SAVE.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Public Meeting at the Council Chamber on Monday Evening.

There will be a public meeting held at the common council chamber on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of making arrangements for a proper celebration of the Fourth of July. Let all patriotic citizens attend, and start the arrangements with a boom.

MANY CITIZENS.

—Nels Carlson is very sick from pneumonia.

—Smith & Corlies' orchestra will play at Hebron, Ill., to-night.

—Carriages for the Belmont wedding at the fair are to be furnished by Harry G. Carter.

—City Clerk Fenton has ordered 3,700 metal figures for numbering houses on the various streets.

—H. S. Keller has been called from Chicago by the dangerous illness of his child. He arrived this morning.

—Mrs. Francis Dickson, of Edgerton, recently celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birth. She was born at Boston in 1797.

—If a fishing party carries all the bait in long brown bottles, they will catch half-heads or swelled heads? Thus inquires the weather prophet.

—Yankirk Bros. have finished house cleaning and look brighter than ever. The smiles of the proprietors can be seen from Jackson street to the bridge.

—Track layers are at work making the gauge of the street railway on Milwaukee street a trifle narrower. Late in the afternoon it will be wide for the cars.

—Three parties of fishermen went up the river this morning to see that the black bass law was observed. No returns have been received but friends of the missing ones will continue to hope for the best.

—Late yesterday afternoon a yordist was rendered in the case of Middleton against Jerde. The plaintiff was awarded three hundred and seventy-five dollars. This case will cost Dane county nearly six hundred dollars for jurors fees and court charges.

—The new time table of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, which takes effect on Sunday, will give Jewessville six passenger trains to Chicago daily, leaving here at 1:30 a. m.; 3:35 a. m.; 7:00 a. m.; 9:20 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.; and 2:30 p. m. Trains will arrive from Chicago at 1:15 a. m.; 3:40 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.; 3:30 p. m.; and 5:25 p. m.

—There will be a large delegation of Brodhead and Monroe people at the opera house to-night to hear Esther. Arrangements have been made to hold the Monroe accommodation trip until these people are ready to return. The opera house will be packed to-night.

—Mr. Kimberly's friends are coming in large numbers to hear him.

—When the fair ground is thrown open this summer it will have been decidedly changed. A platform has been built at the end of the street car line and a flag will probably be put up to announce the arrival and departure of cars. The ticket office that formerly stood at the outside gate has been moved to the side of this platform, fitted up with six windows and newly painted.

—Monroe Sentinel—The Monroe doctrine just now is to "stand by its guns." The amount of money for the first Regiment encampment has been subscribed, or so near it that the committee appointed by the Business Men's Association will guarantee the sum required. A formal invitation has been extended through Col. Lewis to the regiment to encamp in Monroe the first week in August.

—Trinity church parishioners and friends will not forget the Sovereign social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Horace McElroy, Madison street, on Monday evening next, for which an excellent programme has been prepared by the young ladies of Trinity Parish Guild. Ice cream and cake will be served on the lawn. The parishioners and friends of the church are most cordially invited to attend.

—To-day's Chicago Inter Ocean says of the Merchants' association banquet at Milwaukee last evening: The second toast, "To the Merchants of America, their duty to the Nation in Politics and Morals," was responded to by Ogden H. Pethers, of Jewessville, one of the most entertaining speakers in the state. Mr. Pethers has generally been considered the orator of the state, but Pethers, if not his equal, is coming close to him.

—Mr. Robert Carr has leased the Clear Lake picnic grounds and buildings and is putting the property in thorough repair for the summer season. Mr. Carr has had an extensive experience at Koshkonong and other resorts and proposes to make Clear Lake a favorite picnic resort for Jewessville people. The drive is a pleasant one, and all the advantages of Geneva Lake only 10 miles from home.

Mr. Carr will be pleased to entertain Jewessville pleasure parties and guarantee to please them. Give him a call.

—Madison Democrat: Some of the "old boys" of this city and suburbs, who were witnesses in the trial of the case of Middleton vs. Jerde, in Jewessville, recently, are said to have come very near getting into the lookup for contempt of court.

The "boys" got to listening to some of John's amusements, and forgetting they were in the circuit court, indulged in altogether too much hilarity. Judge Bennett, considering the fact that the witnesses—or some of them—had been used to the easy ways of a Wisconsin legislature—gave them as much latitude as he could. Finally he was forced to instruct the sheriff to look after the party. The sheriff was easy and let them off.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 61 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 91 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For corresponding hours one year ago the register was 57 and 70 degrees above zero.

O. E. Bowles is prepared to furnish loans of money on reasonable terms and at lowest rates of interest.

THE HEDDER DAYS.

That wedding bells can almost be heard.

That the latest "fad" seems to be divorce cases.

That the city attorney says his coat was not picked for him by the fish.

That the Indian Ford during the fishing season is not entirely for prohibition.

That Marshal Hogan is grinding his own opener for next Sunday's campaign.

That a wrestling match between two west side amateurs is on the docket—maybe.

That the woolen mill has made money this year if no other institution in town has.

That Jewessville's Fourth of July will be almost an improvement on the original.

That John Griffiths has a horse which he claims will give some one a surprise party.

That Frank Webster hasn't stopped smiling yet over that joke about the lottery.

That Under Sheriff Oute has a good deal of fun keeping small boys out of the court room.

That Belmont occupies the Northwestern road of unfairness but fails to remember the forty thousand.

That when Frank Hayden appears as the Jew in mourning he looks solemn enough to be a funeral all by himself.

THE JENKINS CASE.

The circuit court is now occupied with the case of Dr. Clara L. Normington (Jenkins), charged with manslaughter, in causing the death of Mrs. H. G. Ebbets. The details of this case are unfit for publication.

The jurors in the case are James Cleland, Jewessville; A. L. Fisher, Center; M. A. Ott, Patrick Jefferson, Jewessville; W. N. Swiggle, Turtle; E. L. Farley, Center; Amosah Sherman, La Prairie; Sylvester House, Belmont; George Croseman, Rock; S. B. Marquissee, Jewessville; Sol. Spoon, town of Jewessville and Daniel Wood, Milton Junction.

A BLIND TYPEWRITER.

Professor Hirsch and "one of his Latin achievements."

A Washington correspondent says:—I see a paragraph going the rounds about a blind boy in Brooklyn who has become an expert on the typewriter. His is not the only case.

Not long ago I had occasion to call upon Prof. Hirsch, the distinguished blind organist and composer, who makes Washington his home, and found in his office a typewriter which gave evidence of frequent use. In answer to a question from me about it he replied that it was his and that he used it himself. "I have no trouble whatever," he said, "in writing my letters upon it. It is quite an easy thing to do, and it gives me great pleasure to write my own letters."

He is a wonderful man. Blind from his childhood, he has made himself one of the finest organists in the country, a composer of rare and valuable music and a teacher of music and organ and piano. He is constantly full of work teaching his pupils, and has all the best news that he can possibly attend to. He makes probably $5,000 or more a year out of his musical work. He manages his own affairs, and he does not rely on any body for assistance in getting about the streets with which he is familiar.

If your clothes are yellow and stained, Fairbank's Soap will make them white and clean.

COOKING EVENTS.

—Queen Esther at the opera house this evening.

—Chautauque circle Monday evening, May 20th. Quotations from Goldsmith. All come.

—Rock River Encampment No. 3, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows' hall this evening—regular semi-monthly meeting.

—The Y. W. C. T. U. have concluded to postpone their entertainment until two weeks later on account of the oratorio.

—Olive Branch Lodge No. 35, Ancient Order of United Workmen, assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Lappin block, East Milwaukee street.

—People's Lodge No. 430, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly session this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block.

Why not try a soap which has successfully stood severe tests? Ask for Fairbank's Soap.

TRN YEARS AMONG NEWSBOYS.

Col. Alexander Hogeland, president of the Youthful Employment Association, and known as the newsboy's friend, arrived in Jewessville this afternoon and will devote a week's time to organizing a general intelligence office and association for procuring employment for youths—boys or girls.

Col. Hogeland has given fifteen years to the work, has visited over 200 cities and comes with the endorsement of the press and educators. He spent a week at Madison addressing a union meeting in the Congregational church. It is expected that a similar arrangement will be made here. To-night Col. Hogeland will make an open air speech to our town boys at corn exchange square. Every boy in town should be there.

Tobacco.

I will buy all grades of tobacco from the best to the cheapest in any quantity except half and fillers. Bring a fair sample. M. H. SOVERIN.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. A. Ains is visiting relatives in the city.

—Dr. S. S. Judd returned from Chicago last night.

—A. A. Jackson started for New York to-day. He will be absent about a week.

—Miss Mary Chantillon, of the second ward, who has been visiting her brother, Mr. Thomas Cantillon, at Fergus Falls, for the past three months, returned home yesterday.

A GOOD BEGINNING.

The Choral Union's First Presentation of "Euterpe" is a Success.

Jewessville has many pretty girls, but seldom have more been seen together than were on the Myers house stage last night. At least the audience thought so.

Whether or not Persians actually wear bangs and Mother Hubbards received no consideration. It was enough that the members of this particular chorus did and that when they marched and counter-marched the effect could hardly have been improved. Except for the audience, which was not a large one, last night's presentation of the oratorio of "Euterpe" was successful in every way.

Every part was well taken as to both acting and singing. Whatever stiffness there was, arose from unfamiliarity with the surroundings. This evening's performance will, therefore, be even better than that of last evening.

Mrs. H. A. Smith's interpretation of the title role showed a depth of feeling that none but a true artist can attain. The clear, bird-like quality of her voice enabled her to bring out the full strength of her part, and the hearty applause that was given testified to her success.

Mr. Stouffer was also thoroughly appreciated, his "King Ahasuerus" being a powerful character.

Frank L. Hayden made many new friends by his work as "Mordecai." His excellence was especially notable because he took the part almost without notice, having had but one rehearsal.

As was said before, however, the cast was a good one throughout. Mr. O. E. Kimberly as "Haman" could hardly be criticised, his rich voice leading new dignity to the part. Mrs. C. E. Moseley, the "Zenith" of the oratorio, did not, of course, fail to meet the demands of that important character.

She is perfectly familiar with the role, was in good voice, and there was a naturalness and a grace in her acting and singing that were fully appreciated by the audience.

The minor parts were all ably sustained. Mr. J. G. Saxe, Mr. George Paris, Mr. E. J. Samuels, Miss Kittie Farnsworth, Miss Kittie Morresey, Mr. A. Shaller and Mr. F. Needham each received a great deal of praise. As for Helen Cogswell she received an ovation that was very flattering. Instead of an orchestra there was a trio—piano and violin—Mrs. Lizzie Stittell, Miss Clara Church and Professor S. F. Hayner being the musicians. The selections were very appropriate and were frequently applauded.

It is expected that the audience of this evening will be a large one. Seats have been selling rapidly.

AN EAGLE IN A DOVE COVE.

Last evening about five o'clock the large golden eagle belonging to Mr. George Irish, residing at the corner of Prospect and North Bluff streets, broke out of its cage and made full use of its liberty for an hour or more. Realizing that it was free, his eagleship first visited the Union house barn, in which a large number of pigeons of various species are kept. The roof of the barn at the time was covered with pigeons, but seeing the huge "bird of the sun" approaching with its terrible screech, they pigeons soon found shelter and safety in the outer side of the barn. Resting for a few moments on the roof, the eagle dashed away to some large tree over on Post Court, soaring the wings out of all the poultry in that section of the city.

The news of an eagle being in this locality soon reached the ears of Ex-Sheriff Skavlen and Frank Pierson, who loaded up their Winchester and started out for "big game," intending to secure a valuable specimen for their collection. At the same time Mr. George Irish was "put onto the rack," and mistaking the eagle to be his, made haste to head off the tenderfooted hunters.

He succeeded in reaching the bird first, and his eagleship recognizing George's voice, dropped down from his perch to the ground and allowed the master to pick him up. The eagle is a very large one, captured about a year ago in the northern part of the state, and is highly prized by Mr. Irish, who feels much elated now that he has his bird so tame that he can let him out for exercise. Skavlen and Pierson are a little disgraced at their tardiness, but think George will let his bird out once too often, and they will yet have an opportunity of adding a valuable specimen of the eagle family to their taxidermical collection.

PARISIAN ATTENDANCE ON A SMALL SPREE.

One of the daintiest and most elegant streets in Paris was recently closed at the local of a remarkable fête. Among the original natives of the notorious Place Maubert, which readers of Eugene Sue will remember, were supposed to see two or three open vehicles laden with handsome ladies in brilliant plumage, with attendants in livery, and a magnificent line of horses, sweep down from the Boulevard St. Germain into the dismal Rue Galignani.

The procession stopped before the red palace Chateau Rouge, which formerly belonged to Gabriel de Castries, and is now the residence of the French ambassador in London. The occupants of the vehicles, followed by a crowd of gaudy gauds, philopoles and general metropolitan marauders, went into the hideous hostelry, where they actually had lunch, which was washed down by a copious shower of champagne.

The well dressed guests who thus honored the Rue d'Assolvi for their temporary presence were some of the most charming actresses in Paris, who, for the novelty of the thing, had agreed to play at the shadowy tavern with some of their comrades. After the first one of the actresses recited verses by the poet Coppee, and then some of the alchemical and mystical maxims of the pinkish lady who had been invited to the pinkish event—London Telegraph.

A Solemn Reproof.

The deacons who wanted to let down the text, and, leaning over to let scapgoats, the wisest said: "Have you any cure for you?" "You can't play in church," was the solemn reproof answer, and the good woman was so flustered that she forgot her text—Catharicus Republican.

When Cannon Are Fired.

Dr. Samuel Saxon, speaking of the great danger of injury to the ears under cannon firing, says there is probably no better protection than a firm wall of cotton wool well secured from the external auditory canal—Boston Herald.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Grand Celebration by the Knights of Labor.

Something to be Considered at the Meeting Monday Evening.

Everything seems to favor Jewessville this season, and no doubt it will have more prosperous times are in store for us in the very near future. At the request of numerous leading citizens the Gazette last evening published a call for a meeting to be held at the common council rooms on Monday evening next to make arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July—everyone says let us celebrate; and no doubt this meeting will be largely attended and arrangements will be inaugurated for one of the best celebrations ever held in the state. Jewessville can do this if all the people who are now talking favorably of the undertaking will lend a helping hand at the proper time. Add to our own efforts to properly observe the day, the Knights of Labor of Southern Wisconsin are now arranging for a celebration to take place in this city. The following dispatch from Madison to the Milwaukee Sentinel, explains all the details we have at this time:

MADISON, May 19.—The district assembly, Knights of Labor, have been in session here for the past two days. The district includes all the assemblies in the two southern tiers of counties except Milwaukee county. Owing to the fact that their sessions were held with closed doors, little could be learned of its transactions. It is understood, however, that the assembly endorsed the recent proclamation of Great Master Workman, holding a Fourth of July celebration in Jewessville, and arrangements to that end are being made. Master Workman Griffiths will deliver the oration.

This being a fact, let all unite and have a grand, patriotic time, one which will be an honor to all, the citizens of Jewessville, and the visiting delegations of the Knights of Labor, and Jewessville will see one of the grand old-time turn-outs.

BELOIT COLLEGE NOTES.

A Ball Game Under Protest—White Huts for the Sophs.

BELOIT, May 20.—The standing of the various clubs in the College Association race are as follows:

Colleges.	Won.	Lost.
Beloit	1	2
Madison	1	1
Northwestern	1	1
Lake Forest	1	1

The Beloit-Brandon game of last Saturday was one of the finest exhibitions of good ball playing ever seen on the campus, the score being 4 to 5 in favor of Brandon. The game was played under protest, however, as the visiting nine had three non-college men who made all the runs and did nearly all the playing, and who alone gave them the victory. If the protest goes through, the game will go to Beloit, 0 to 0.

The Arcadian debate comes off to-night. An original poem will be read by one of the Delphes.

The class in surveying have just begun operations. It is great sport, they say, to carry chain these cool afternoons.

The ephemerides will blossom out in light plays on commencement day.

A few students saw the oratorio at Jewessville last night.

Literary society elections took place this week.

President Eaton is again absent.

NEW BOOKS.

Mr. R. W. King, the bookseller, has received from Chicago, two new books, one being "Practical Fly," by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago. The little book is made up of four discourses, delivered at Central Music hall. Those who know Mr. Jones can readily conceive of the general character and tone of the book.

The discourses are practical, and in the second place they are full of scholarship, and the price is but 30 cents, everybody can afford to purchase a copy.

Another book which Mr. King has received, and which is distinctly bound and handsomely printed, is "The Faith that Makes Faithful" by Jenkin Lloyd Jones and William C. Gannett. This is composed of eight discourses, four by Mr. Jones, "Faithfulness," "Tenderness," "The Simplest Robe" and "The Divine Benediction." Persons who desire either of these books can find them at Mr. King's store.

A New Book Publisher.

On the ocean, cares little about a storm. He is positively indifferent whether he is washed overboard or not. But, set right by a wine-glassful, or two of Hester's Stimulating Bitters, he feels a keen interest in his personal safety.

This one corrective neutralizes in broken water—often a comparatively crank on shipboard, to the grievous detriment of health, pernicious impurities which give rise to disorders, and all rounder or sea sickness. To the seafarer, the tourist the western pioneer and miner, the doctor is invaluable as a means of protection against malaria. When its seeds are latent in the air and water. To the effects of overwork, and the general run of the most reliable antidote, and to the debilitated and nervous it affords great and speedily felt relief and vigor.

A Hint for the Showman.

I have found out the secret of the grey headed man at Olympia. The marvel I noticed as he notoriously wanders in the intelligence which is generally characteristic of the man who should be treated to a contest of speed without an object, such as a hare, in front of them is a marvel no longer. One of the addresses recited verses by the poet Coppee, and then some of the alchemical and mystical maxims of the pinkish lady who had been invited to the pinkish event—London Telegraph.
